April 2007

Dear CITP credential holder:

Please join us for the upcoming CITP Web Seminar, Virtual S-Ox, on Tuesday, May 1st from 2:00 p.m. to 3:15 p.m. EST (1:00 p.m. to 2:15 p.m. CST/11 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. PST).

In this installment of the CITP Web Seminar Series, presenters Bob Benoit CPA, Ken Ebbage FCA, Michael Mooradian and Rich Lanza CPA.CITP, CFE, PMP introduce the concept of Virtual S-Ox. Using real-life case studies involving publicly-traded companies in disparate locations, they demonstrate how remote computing technologies such as online meeting software, secured FTP sites, VPN applications and web-based project management tools can be applied to a top-down, risk-based approach to facilitate sound virtual SOX reviews at a fraction of the cost of a traditional onsite engagement.

Immediately following the presentation, there will be a 15-30 minute, Q&A session, allowing attendees to pose questions, discuss their own unique situations or share lessons learned.

Join Bob, Ken, Michael and Rich as they discuss the convergence of remote computing, software-based assurance tools, and the outsourcing trend, and what it means for the future of Sarbanes-Oxley compliance work.

To register, e-mail the CITP Web Seminar Taskforce, and let us know you would like to attend. Shortly afterwards, you will receive a confirmation e-mail with information explaining how to participate. To learn more, visit the CITP Web Seminar Homepage.
